Preface

The 2026–2027 edition of DOMKE ON COMMERCIAL ARBITRATION THIRD EDITION reflects developments and changes in commercial arbitration resulting from legislative, judicial action, and administering agency action.

The recognition and support of commercial arbitration by the courts, legislatures, international bodies, and the business community demonstrate the continued importance and ever-growing vitality of the concept that private resolution of disputes among business interests fosters both successful commercial relationships and peaceful interaction among the citizens of the world engaged in and affected by commerce.

Thanks to all who have contributed to this undertaking by sharing their expertise and granting permission to reprint important material, including representatives of the American Arbitration Association, International Chamber of Commerce, London Court of International Arbitration, National Conference of Commissioners on Uniform State Laws, and Society of Maritime Arbitrators.

This comprehensive treatise owes much to the contributions of Martin Domke, Gabriel Wilner, and Larry E. Edmonson. Special thanks are also due the skilled editor of this treatise, Hilary A. Shroyer.
