

Dear Customer,

Thomson Reuters is one of the world's most trusted providers of answers, helping professionals make confident decisions and run better businesses. Our customers are at the heart of everything we do, and we believe communication is key.

With that in mind, we are informing you that the 2021 United States Code Annotated (U.S.C.A.) pocket part is currently scheduled to ship in July and August of 2021. This extension from the regular May and June shipment schedule is due to the unprecedented volume of legislation passed late in the Second Session of the 116th Congress. Given the significant public impact of these late-session laws, we made this decision to ensure our print customers have the most up-to-date and fully incorporated text materials for their print volumes. As always, updates to the U.S.C.A. online Westlaw product are released on a continual, ongoing basis.

We thank you for your continued loyalty and look forward to serving your business needs in the future.

Sincerely,

Thomson Reuters
