

PREFACE

This pocket part adheres to the structure of the Main Volume, and contains updated discussions of recent decisions by the Arizona Supreme Court and Arizona Court of Appeals, and discussions of the relevant changes to the Arizona Rules of Evidence.

The Main Volume, and its pocket part, are intended to serve as a research tool for practitioners. For that reason, those who use this work in their practice are reminded to cite check and update the information set forth in the underlying volume and this pocket part. In short, this resource is a starting point for further research, not the end point.

As in the past, I extend the long-standing invitation to readers to provide comments and suggestions for items to be included, excluded and/or discussed in this work. I will take all such suggestions and comments into account in future editions of this work.

Please direct comments or suggestions to: shirley.mcauliffe@cox.net.
