Acknowledgments

The Author would like to acknowledge the valued assistance of Melinda C. Tooley in the research of this Book. She worked through all sorts of things which could distract her from her task.

Thanks to Barry V. Newton, Jr., for his research help. He is currently preparing to take the Florida Bar Exam and will soon be the “Esquire” in name which he already is in truth.

Thanks to Dianne Wall, my wife, without whose patience, encouragement and support this Book would never have been written. It may not be possible to express thanks equal to her qualities.

Finally, a word about citation form and formats. The Author has tried very hard to follow Bluebook form in citing any and all sources in this Third Edition. The Publisher of the First Edition and of the Second Edition followed the Chicago Manual of citation, and the Author has made as many changeovers as could be made in the manuscript of this Third Edition. I know also that the correct Bluebook form for placement of parentheticals is immediately following the cited decision to which they refer, but the Publisher’s software will not easily accommodate that, and so in this instance, as in others less obvious perhaps, software requirements had to trump devotion to Bluebook rules.
