

Highlights of the 2025-2026 Edition

International Trade Practice is a comprehensive guide for navigating the complex landscape of international trade law and dispute resolution. Covering a wide range of topics, this resource helps readers stay up-to-date on the latest developments and best practices in the field.

Key topics covered in this work include: Section 337 Enforcement & Intellectual Property Protection; Antidumping Law & Investigations; Countervailing Duties & Subsidies; Trade Remedies & Safeguards; Administrative Protective Orders & Procedural Matters; International Trade Dispute Resolution; and National Security Import Restrictions.

Updates to this 2025-2026 Edition of International Trade Practice include:

- New section covering Alternatives and Complements to Section 337 (See § 2:15)
- Analysis of the current trend requiring patentees to prove commercial success stems from claimed invention rather than external factors such as marketing, pricing, or discounts. (See § 3:14)
- Summaries of recent judicial review cases of ITC decisions such as: Philip Morris Products S.A. v. ITC; Wuhan Healthgen Biotech v. ITC; and Lashify, Inc. v. ITC (See § 11:15)
- Discussion of Marmen Inc. v. United States, in which the Federal Circuit rejected the Commerce Department's differential pricing methodology when statistical test assumptions were not properly verified. (See § 15:4)
- Significant revisions to Chapter 24 on Substantive Issues in Countervailing Duty Investigations, including the addition of 2 new sections covering Other Specificity Exceptions and Transnational Subsidies (See §§ 24:5 and 24:15)
- The addition of important, more recent holdings impacting the standard of review and agency decisions such as Kisor v. Wilkie and Loper Bright Enterprises v. Raimondo (See § 30:1)
- Coverage of recent litigation surrounding the extension of the steel and aluminum tariffs imposed through Section 232 authority, including Transpacific Steel LLC v. United States and PrimeSource Building Products v. United States (See § 42:2)