

INTRODUCTION TO 2025-2026 EDITION

The 2025-2026 edition includes an overview of health information security and privacy law in the United States. The 2025-2026 edition includes:

- A discussion on new rules on information blocking
- A discussion of a Texas federal district court case striking down much of the Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act (HIPAA) reproductive health information privacy amendment, and the Trump Administration's next steps
- A discussion of OCR cases imposing fines and corrective action plans for HIPAA violations
- A discussion on proposed HIPAA rules to address cybersecurity issues
- A discussion of new and revised states laws on health law privacy

A word about the statements of the author's point of view or "opinions" is appropriate. These statements do not necessarily reflect those of at DLA Piper, the companies mentioned in this book, and may not be consistent with the author's own beliefs or views.

Thank you for subscribing to Health Care Privacy and Security.