

INTRODUCTION TO THE 2026 EDITION

This 2026 Edition of Texas Environmental Law, part of the Texas Practice Series, is a project of the Environmental & Natural Resources Law Section of the State bar of Texas. Since last year's edition, new material has been added and/or existing material updated on the following topics:

- recent legislation regarding flood planning;
- what constitutes “waters of the United States”;
- federal litigation and agency implementation regarding the Clean Water Act;
- regulation of oil and gas exploration, production, and transportation; and
- updates on the state of environmental, social, and responsibility reporting laws and the SEC's climate change disclosure rules.