

Highlights of the Second Supplement of 2025

This Supplement consists of 8 new forms and related commentaries to be added to Chapters 9, 14, 19 and 20, and includes consideration of Artificial Intelligence (AI) impacts in data services and licensing in Chapter 20. The new material consists of the following:

Volume 2

§ 9:12.4 Form: Buyer’s Purchase Order Terms and Conditions for Work, Services and Goods (Simplified Logistics): a simple form of purchase order for the sale of goods (e.g., products, materials, equipment, tools, technical information, software or other items) and possible services such as attendant customization, set-up or configuration, testing, and warranty services and perhaps limited technology or license components.

Volume 3

§ 14:20 Form: Master Work Agreement: a simple form of supply agreement for the sale of goods and performance of professional or technical services intended for installation and use at a designated site of the customer.

Volume 4

§ 19:14.90 Form: Software as a Service Agreement for SAAS Services, Maintenance Services, Configuration Services, and Training Services (Executed by Statements of Work, Orders or Quotes): an agreement for SAAS services, as well as defined services, accompanied by a Service Level Agreement (SLA).

§ 20:83 Form: Master Data Services Agreement (Services Model, processing of EDI Transactions and distinguishing Input Data, Output Data, and third- party data components): a services agreement for data services, plus certain professional services, under which the customer provides its “input data,” and the provider agrees to process that data using its system, software, and its own data, as well as third-party providers’ data to produce “output data,” which is given to the customer to conduct or facilitate an “EDI transaction.” The form provides a detailed exposition of the handling of rights in data and potential Artificial Intelligence (AI) options.

§ 20:85 Form: Master Data Access and Use Agreement (License to Access and Use Service subject to Use Restrictions): a services and license agreement for data services, plus certain professional services, under which the customer agrees to provide the provider with “input data” of the customer, and the provider agrees to process that data using its system, software, and its own data, as well as third-party providers’ data obtained by the provider. The form provides a detailed exposition of the handling of rights in data and potential Artificial Intelligence (AI) options.

§ 20:87 Form: Master Data Services Agreement (for Transaction, with Services Shown in Service Offering Table and Limited to Stated Facilities): a services and subscription agreement pursuant to a “service offering” providing for subscription, transaction and other fees for the stated service, accompanied by a license. The form provides a detailed exposition of the handling of rights in data and potential Artificial Intelligence (AI) options.

§ 20:89 Form: Terms of Use and Access for Web-Based Services, Including Data Services: an online subscription agreement for web-based services including data and other content to an online customer, suitable for services and transactions in which data and other content may be widely distributed with minimal restrictions.

§ 20:91 Form: Terms of Use for Portal Access and Data Services: a simple form of online subscription agreement for the use of a web-based portal providing data or documentation to customers in connection with other transactions or services governed by other separate agreements.
