

Table of Contents

PART I. FUNDAMENTALS OF MANAGING CORPORATE RECORDS AND THE PROCESSES FOR EFFECTIVELY DOING IT (CONTINUED)

CHAPTER 1. THE BARE AND MOST BASIC ESSENTIALS OF PROFESSIONALLY AND EFFECTIVELY MANAGING CORPORATE INFORMATION, KNOWLEDGE, AND EXPERTISE THROUGH ITS RECORDS RETENTION COMPLIANCE PROGRAM

- § 1:1 Introduction to this chapter and this book
- § 1:2 Why do business records matter?
- § 1:3 Executive Summary: Managing corporate information, knowledge and records
- § 1:4 What employees should know about managing their records
- § 1:5 A special note to attorneys and professional record managers
- § 1:6 What this publication covers
- § 1:7 Record it
- § 1:8 First things first

CHAPTER 2. BASICS OF CORPORATE RECORDS MANAGEMENT

- § 2:1 Initial discussion and questions on corporate records management
- § 2:2 What is a corporate record?
- § 2:3 Does the form of a corporate record matter?
- § 2:4 How long should a corporate record be kept?
- § 2:5 How does one assess the value of a corporate record?
- § 2:6 What responsibilities do members of the corporation have for records?
- § 2:7 Who has the ultimate responsibility for all the corporate records?
- § 2:8 Quality of the information recorded in corporate records
- § 2:9 The ideal corporate records manager
- § 2:10 Achieving an effective records program often means changes to corporate practices
- § 2:11 Corporate record management policies

§ 2:12 Corporate record management principles

CHAPTER 3. FUNDAMENTALS OF EFFECTIVE CORPORATE RECORDS MANAGEMENT

- § 3:1 Questions about the fundamentals of corporate records management
- § 3:2 Fundamentals of effective corporate record management
- § 3:3 Perspective of corporate records
- § 3:4 Records life cycle concept
- § 3:5 Primary purpose of a records corporate management program
- § 3:6 Objectives of a corporate records management program
- § 3:7 Records should be an integral part of corporate objectives
- § 3:8 Records should contribute to corporate values
- § 3:9 Records that contribute to corporate values by serving customers
- § 3:10 Records that contribute to corporate strategy
- § 3:11 How records can protect the corporation
- § 3:12 How records contribute to corporate management
- § 3:13 Motivating and inspiring those responsible for managing corporate records
- § 3:14 Integrating records management into company business practices

CHAPTER 4. ESTABLISHING AND MAINTAINING A CORPORATE RECORDS MANAGEMENT PROGRAM

- § 4:1 Questions one should ask about establishing and maintaining a corporate records management program
- § 4:2 Principles of effective and efficient records management
- § 4:3 Starting small with a corporate record management program
- § 4:4 Overcoming roadblocks to a corporate records program
- § 4:5 Planning a corporate records program
- § 4:6 Implementing a corporate records program
- § 4:7 Managing records in a brand-new organization
- § 4:8 Developing an effective records control schedule
- § 4:9 Motivating corporate personnel about effective corporate recordkeeping
- § 4:10 —Obtaining top management support
- § 4:11 Internal departments involved in corporate records management
- § 4:12 Managers of corporate records
- § 4:13 Career orientation for corporate records managers
- § 4:14 —The first 90 days as the new corporate records administrator
- § 4:15 —Federal records management certification
- § 4:16 —Succession planning

TABLE OF CONTENTS

- § 4:17 Responsibilities of records management and information handling; information needs
- § 4:18 Measuring the success of records retention efforts
- § 4:19 Increasing recordkeeping productivity
- § 4:20 Communication with management about corporate records management
- § 4:21 Changing the corporate perspective about the importance of records
- § 4:22 Becoming the corporate records management champion
- § 4:23 Challenging record departmental personnel
- § 4:24 Conveying the need for a records compliance program
- § 4:25 Marketing and selling a record compliance program
- § 4:26 Establishing records retention compliance committee or team
- § 4:27 Building a team-based records management environment
- § 4:28 How portable are one's record management skills when considering a job change?
- § 4:29 Competing on a company's information, knowledge, and expertise

CHAPTER 5. LEGAL ISSUES INVOLVED IN A CORPORATE RECORDS MANAGEMENT PROGRAM

- § 5:1 Questions one should ask about applicable laws regarding corporate records
- § 5:2 Furtherance of goals of applicable laws and regulations
- § 5:3 Avoidance of punitive aspects of federal sentencing guidelines
- § 5:4 Laws directly applicable to corporate records management
- § 5:5 —Federal law
- § 5:6 —State law
- § 5:7 —Regulations
- § 5:8 —Industry self-regulation
- § 5:9 Specific records retention practices for particular compliance areas
- § 5:10 —Occupational Safety and Health Act (OSHA)
- § 5:11 —Products liability
- § 5:12 —Environmental
- § 5:13 —Equal employment opportunity
- § 5:14 —Fair hiring and termination
- § 5:15 —Securities
- § 5:16 —Other substantive areas having specific records retention requirements
- § 5:17 — —Government contracting
- § 5:18 — —Patents
- § 5:19 — —Trade secrets
- § 5:20 — —Architectural information, knowledge, and records
- § 5:21 — —Transportation and distribution

- § 5:22 — —Labor law
- § 5:23 — —Consumer protection
- § 5:24 — —Export management
- § 5:25 — —Corporate transparency
- § 5:26 ISO 9000 quality standards and related recordkeeping
- § 5:27 Disclosure required of records
- § 5:28 Violations of special concerns to corporations
- § 5:29 Potential liability involved
- § 5:30 Enforcement—In general
- § 5:31 —Federal
- § 5:32 —State
- § 5:33 —Industry
- § 5:34 —Private

CHAPTER 6. OTHER ISSUES INVOLVING CORPORATE RECORDS

- § 6:1 Questions about other issues involving corporate records
- § 6:2 Generating and protecting corporate records
- § 6:3 Form versus substance of corporate records
- § 6:4 Protecting the corporation against “nonrecord” materials
- § 6:5 Identifying and preserving vital records
- § 6:6 Dealing with records of records
- § 6:7 Corporate records management reporting
- § 6:8 Integrating records management and information management
- § 6:9 Corporate information management policy
- § 6:10 Directives or policy statement management
- § 6:11 Departmental policy and procedures manuals
- § 6:12 Managing particular types of corporate records
- § 6:13 —Reports management
- § 6:14 —Mail and correspondence management
- § 6:15 —Forms management
- § 6:16 —Reproduction management
- § 6:17 —Special media management
- § 6:18 —Archives and records center management
- § 6:19 —Vital records and disaster mitigation and recovery management
- § 6:20 Destroying corporate records safely
- § 6:21 Storage issues
- § 6:22 Indexing materials that are stored
- § 6:23 Developing a records retention schedule for a new organization
- § 6:24 Compliance timetables for content-based records schedules
- § 6:25 Tickler systems
- § 6:26 Relationships and networks with inside and outside parties
- § 6:27 Handling government investigations
- § 6:28 Special records needs in mergers and acquisitions
- § 6:29 Parent-subsidiary implications

TABLE OF CONTENTS

§ 6:30 Coordinating historical and continuing programs

CHAPTER 7. RAISING COMPANY AWARENESS AND EDUCATING PERSONNEL ABOUT RECORDS

- § 7:1 Questions related to the level of records awareness within the company
- § 7:2 Elements of company education and awareness
- § 7:3 —Code of conduct
- § 7:4 —Training agendas
- § 7:5 —Seminars and meetings
- § 7:6 —Newsletters
- § 7:7 —Videos
- § 7:8 —Written materials
- § 7:9 Communications channels with employees
- § 7:10 —Ombudsman
- § 7:11 —Hotline
- § 7:12 —Suggestion/question box
- § 7:13 Developing a records compliance manual
- § 7:14 Certificate of understanding and intent to comply

CHAPTER 8. CONSIDERATIONS FOR COMPUTER FILES AND ELECTRONIC RECORDS

- § 8:1 Questions about computer files and electronic records
- § 8:2 Principles about computer files and electronic records
- § 8:3 Electronic mail
- § 8:4 Storage of e-mail and other electronic records
- § 8:5 Proving electronic records that do not exist
- § 8:6 Privacy of e-mail and internet use
- § 8:7 Hybrid records storage philosophy
- § 8:8 Electronic records and information management efficiency and effectiveness
- § 8:9 Destruction of computer file records
- § 8:10 Electronic data exchange
- § 8:11 Electronic Data Interchange (EDI)
- § 8:12 Electronic commerce
- § 8:13 Extranets
- § 8:14 Electronic or digital signatures
- § 8:15 Federally mandated electronic records
- § 8:16 Data management and storage
- § 8:17 Data warehouse
- § 8:18 Security aspects of managing electronic records
- § 8:19 Using social media to promote corporate success
- § 8:20 Technology and automation
- § 8:21 —Artificial intelligence

CHAPTER 9. AUDITING CORPORATE RECORDS

- § 9:1 Questions one should address about having and conducting a records audit
- § 9:2 General business issues in a legal audit of its records
- § 9:3 Conveying need for records audit
- § 9:4 Pre-audit procedures
- § 9:5 Initial audit—The structure of an initial audit
- § 9:6 —The purpose of the initial audit
- § 9:7 —The scope of the initial audit
- § 9:8 —The completeness of the initial audit
- § 9:9 Questions auditors should consider asking and subjects they should consider dealing with
- § 9:10 Ultimate challenges of compliance auditing
- § 9:11 Physical examination of records during the audit
- § 9:12 Verifying that records are complete
- § 9:13 —The utility of self-audits
- § 9:14 —The utility of supervisor audits
- § 9:15 —The utility of random audits
- § 9:16 —Prioritized audits according to potential vulnerability
- § 9:17 Characteristics of a model or ideal audit
- § 9:18 Stages of the audit report
- § 9:19 Weighing the information and knowledge quality criteria
- § 9:20 The lack of quality information and knowledge: Ignorance
- § 9:21 Types of information and records to audit
- § 9:22 Audit hints and tips
- § 9:23 Auditing substance of information recorded
- § 9:24 Persons to be questioned during audit
- § 9:25 Questions to be asked during audit
- § 9:26 —Alternative survey questions for an audit
- § 9:27 Audit interview checklist
- § 9:28 Post-audit report and review
- § 9:29 Employer disclosure of violations
- § 9:30 —Disclosure checklist for employer disclosure of violations
- § 9:31 Periodic audits
- § 9:32 —Purpose of periodic audits
- § 9:33 —Scope of periodic audits
- § 9:34 Document review
- § 9:35 —Contracts
- § 9:36 —Written policies
- § 9:37 —Internal reports and evaluations
- § 9:38 —Correspondence
- § 9:39 —Corporate public statements
- § 9:40 —Other documents

CHAPTER 10. MANAGING CORPORATE KNOWLEDGE

- § 10:1 Issues that should be addressed to effectively manage corporate knowledge

TABLE OF CONTENTS

- § 10:2 What is different and critically important about corporate knowledge?
- § 10:3 What is the difference between information and knowledge?
- § 10:4 Managing corporate information, intelligence, and knowledge assets

CHAPTER 11. UNDERSTANDING AND APPRECIATING THE DIFFERENT COMPONENTS OF CORPORATE KNOWLEDGE

- § 11:1 What is the difference between explicit and tacit knowledge and why does it matter?
- § 11:2 Business critical information, knowledge, wisdom, experience, and insights
- § 11:3 Is a corporate knowledge management culture important and how does one build one?
- § 11:4 Practically, how does an organization manage its knowledge?
- § 11:5 Is a chief knowledge officer a valuable and productive officer to include in the corporate hierarchy?
- § 11:6 What are the barriers to achieving an effective corporate knowledge management culture?
- § 11:7 Effectively implementing corporate information and knowledge
- § 11:8 The importance of aligning corporate values and personal goals and objectives

CHAPTER 12. THE VALUE OF CORPORATE KNOWLEDGE

- § 12:1 Disclosing corporate information and knowledge outside the company
- § 12:2 Adding value to the corporation
- § 12:3 Achieving record management departmental excellence
- § 12:4 Reflecting about knowledge
- § 12:5 Unconscious knowledge
- § 12:6 Knowledge competencies
- § 12:7 Knowledge identification
- § 12:8 The perishability of knowledge
- § 12:9 Knowledge leadership
- § 12:10 Knowledge acquisition

CHAPTER 13. STRATEGIES FOR MANAGING CORPORATE KNOWLEDGE

- § 13:1 Knowledge management strategies
- § 13:2 Creating new knowledge through innovation
- § 13:3 The production and use of knowledge
- § 13:4 The role of knowledge diffusion and dissemination in the production and use of knowledge

CHAPTER 14. DEVELOPING AND IMPLEMENTING AN EFFECTIVE CORPORATE RECORDS MANAGEMENT PRACTICE

- § 14:1 Questions that need to be addressed in developing and implementing a corporate records program
- § 14:2 Who should be responsible for designating and maintaining corporate records?
- § 14:3 What should those who create and/or receive records know about their effective management?
- § 14:4 How should the corporate records management program further the corporate purpose?
- § 14:5 How should professional records managers be used within the corporation?
- § 14:6 Should a corporate records manager try to employ innovative records policies, processes, and practices in the organization, and if so, how?
- § 14:7 Is it critically important for a professional records manager to have a positive attitude and effective people skills?
- § 14:8 Should professional record managers be employees or outside consultants?
- § 14:9 How should a corporation depend on its lawyers for managing its records?
- § 14:10 What issues must lawyers be able to handle about corporate records?
- § 14:11 How centrally should the entire corporate records collection be managed?
- § 14:12 What role does trust play in developing and implementing an effective records management practice?

Table of Contents

PART I. FUNDAMENTALS OF MANAGING CORPORATE RECORDS AND THE PROCESSES FOR EFFECTIVELY DOING IT (CONTINUED)

CHAPTER 15. DEVELOPING AND IMPLEMENTING AN EFFECTIVE RECORDS MANAGEMENT LAW PRACTICE

- § 15:1 What are the issues and concerns involved in starting a law practice for managing corporate records or a records management company?
- § 15:2 How should the customers or users of a records management organization be managed?
- § 15:3 What influence or persuasion methods should be used before one tries to sell a records management practice?
- § 15:4 How should one sell a records management practice to corporate clients?
- § 15:5 How do the biases of the buyers of records management affect their decision-making processes?

CHAPTER 16. KEEPING CUSTOMERS LOYAL TO A CORPORATE RECORDS MANAGEMENT PRACTICE

- § 16:1 How does a records management organization, whether inside or outside the corporation, develop customer loyalty?
- § 16:2 Is relationship building and networking productive in promoting a law practice that manages corporate records or a records management company or organization?
- § 16:3 Should creativity play a role in developing a records management strategy?
- § 16:4 How does one successfully execute a records management strategy?
- § 16:5 How does a records management company or a law practice for managing corporate records differentiate itself from all its competitors?
- § 16:6 What are the major issues leaders of a law practice for managing corporate records or a records management company face in today's global economy?
- § 16:7 What role, if any, does "love" play in any business, particularly those of a law practice for managing corporate records or a records management company?

- § 16:8 What should a lawyer or records management professional do for a new corporate records management client?

CHAPTER 17. CORPORATE RECORDS MANAGEMENT EXCEPTIONAL PRACTICES

- § 17:1 More than “best”: “Exceptional” records management practices
§ 17:2 Use the most effective records management practices

PART II. BEYOND CORPORATE COMPLIANCE: LEADING A CORPORATION TO SUCCESS

CHAPTER 18. CORPORATE LEADERSHIP

- § 18:1 Career orientation for corporate records managers—
Leadership and management styles
§ 18:2 — —Centered leadership and storytelling
§ 18:3 — —Leadership and management
§ 18:4 — —Leading and managing professionals
§ 18:5 — —Ambitious leaders
§ 18:6 — —Leadership competencies
§ 18:7 — —Leaders as activists
§ 18:8 — —Leadership strategies
§ 18:9 — —Managing a leader’s time
§ 18:10 — —Leadership character
§ 18:11 — —Improving one’s leadership abilities
§ 18:12 — —Participatory leadership
§ 18:13 — —The tribal leadership approach
§ 18:14 — —Leadership attributes and results
§ 18:15 — — —Essential leadership qualities of passion for integrity, trustworthiness, and character
§ 18:16 — —Leadership performance
§ 18:17 — —Leaders who inspire
§ 18:18 — —Results-based leadership
§ 18:19 — —Service as a leadership quality
§ 18:20 — —Infusing leadership throughout a company
§ 18:21 — —Leaders who both give and take § 18:22 — —Why leadership is everyone’s responsibility
§ 18:23 — —Caring leaders
§ 18:24 — —How leaders learn and improve
§ 18:25 — —Leadership authenticity and integrity
§ 18:26 — —Servant leadership
§ 18:27 — —Situational leadership
§ 18:28 — —The importance of emotional intelligence to effective leadership
§ 18:29 —Management resources
§ 18:30 Helping the corporation grow and be more competitive

TABLE OF CONTENTS

- § 18:31 Making effective decisions
- § 18:32 Taking action and getting things done
- § 18:33 Being the program champion

CHAPTER 19. LEADING A LEARNING ORGANIZATION

- § 19:1 Building and leading a learning organization
- § 19:2 Leading a learning organization
- § 19:3 Contributing to a learning organization
- § 19:4 Understanding systems thinking
- § 19:5 Appreciating the importance of emotional and social intelligence

Table of Contents

PART II. BEYOND CORPORATE COMPLIANCE: LEADING A CORPORATION TO SUCCESS (CONTINUED)

CHAPTER 20. ACHIEVING EFFECTIVE RESULTS

- § 20:1 Achieving peak performance
- § 20:2 Appreciating the value of innovation and creativity
- § 20:3 Solving problems
- § 20:4 Dealing with uncertainty
- § 20:5 Always trying to achieve progress

CHAPTER 21. ACHIEVING SUCCESS

- § 21:1 Achieving and sustaining individual success
- § 21:2 The critical importance of people to business success
- § 21:3 Achieving and sustaining corporate success

CHAPTER 22. GENERAL CORPORATE ISSUES

- § 22:1 Corporate governance
- § 22:2 The critical importance of positive thinking
- § 22:3 How federal economic policy can impact businesses
- § 22:4 Anticipating the future

CHAPTER 23. CORPORATE AND BUSINESS FUNDAMENTALS: WHAT EVERY CORPORATE EXECUTIVE SHOULD KNOW TO HELP THE FIRM CONTINUALLY IMPROVE

- § 23:1 Corporate and business fundamentals: The broad subjects that a corporate record manager should be knowledgeable about to help his or her organization grow
- § 23:2 Corporate fundamentals
- § 23:3 Organizational memory
- § 23:4 Organizational culture
- § 23:5 Corporate amnesia
- § 23:6 The value of being wrong and being ignorant
- § 23:7 Beyond knowledge and wisdom: Dealing with people
- § 23:8 —Understanding, appreciating, and effectively dealing with the differences in individuals

RECORDS RETENTION COMPLIANCE

- § 23:9 —Motivating corporate personnel
- § 23:10 Building a conducive work environment
- § 23:11 Decision-making
- § 23:12 Capturing attention and being mindful
- § 23:13 Being entrepreneurial
- § 23:14 Globalization
- § 23:15 Externalities that impact business

Table of Contents

PART II. BEYOND CORPORATE COMPLIANCE: LEADING A CORPORATION TO SUCCESS (CONTINUED)

CHAPTER 24. CORPORATE LEARNING

- § 24:1 Learning how to learn
- § 24:2 Learning: The key to continuous improvement
- § 24:3 The implications of learning and doing
- § 24:4 A willingness to change

CHAPTER 25. CORPORATE BEST PRACTICES

- § 25:1 Employing best practices
- § 25:2 Effective communications
- § 25:3 Being passionate about one's customers and one's work
- § 25:4 Making excellence a company and a personal standard
- § 25:5 Assuming responsibility and accountability
- § 25:6 Achieving mastery
- § 25:7 Excellence instead of perfection

CHAPTER 26. METHODS AND PRACTICES TO IMPROVE AND SUSTAIN CORPORATE SUCCESS

- § 26:1 What are the broad subjects that a corporate record manager and all other company leaders should be knowledgeable about to help his or her organization grow?
- § 26:2 Learning how to work completely and be totally consumed with one's task
- § 26:3 Beyond knowledge and wisdom: Exercising good judgment
- § 26:4 Achieving happiness and job satisfaction
- § 26:5 What matters includes politics
- § 26:6 Taking initiative
- § 26:7 The critical importance of corporate values and principles
- § 26:8 Building a positive corporate culture
- § 26:9 Anticipating and preventing crises
- § 26:10 The paradox of the innovative organization
- § 26:11 The paradox and wisdom of crowds
- § 26:12 The value and importance of communities of practice
- § 26:13 Managing risk

- § 26:14 Developing and executing an effective corporate strategy
- § 26:15 Operating openly and transparently
- § 26:16 Achieving effective corporate governance
- § 26:17 The value of hope to business success
- § 26:18 Predicting accurately
- § 26:19 Putting people first in one's company
- § 26:20 Successful succession planning and its execution process

CHAPTER 27. METHODS AND PRACTICES TO BECOME AN EXCELLENT RECORDS MANAGER

- § 27:1 Understanding and improving oneself
- § 27:2 Having a purpose
- § 27:3 Operating with confidence
- § 27:4 Performing with humility
- § 27:5 Having a vision and knowing one's direction
- § 27:6 —Being a visionary for one's business
- § 27:7 Living a meaningful life
- § 27:8 Being fulfilled
- § 27:9 Being authentic
- § 27:10 Thinking with one's mind, acting with one's heart
- § 27:11 Achieving meaning and making a difference
- § 27:12 Being optimistic
- § 27:13 Living well and having a good life
- § 27:14 Being resilient
- § 27:15 Communicating with stories
- § 27:16 Having a positive attitude
- § 27:17 Being grateful for all of one's blessings
- § 27:18 Being thankful and thrilled to be alive
- § 27:19 Being grateful for what you have
- § 27:20 Being grateful for your passion and purpose
- § 27:21 Being grateful for having the freedom to pursue one's fortune
- § 27:22 Having the freedom of choice
- § 27:23 Being grateful for the abundance you already have
- § 27:24 Being grateful for being able to love and care for oneself and others
- § 27:25 Best corporate practices

CHAPTER 28. FORMS AND EXHIBITS

- § 28:1 Sample records retention policy guidelines statement
- § 28:2 Sample corporate records retention policy
- § 28:3 Summary of applicable retention periods
- § 28:4 Sample code of conduct
- § 28:5 Recommendations on components of records retention compliance manual
- § 28:6 Sample audit questions
- § 28:7 Choosing the right imaging system

TABLE OF CONTENTS

- § 28:8 ISO 15489 records management standard
- § 28:9 National Archives and Records Administration regulations on records management
- § 28:10 50 State Survey materials on recordkeeping

APPENDICES

- Appendix A. Answers to Frequently Asked Questions about
Corporate Records Management
- Appendix B. List of Secondary Sources Consulted
- Appendix C. Being Lucky All My Life

Table of Laws and Rules

Table of Cases

Index