Table of Contents

CHAPTER 1. ENVIRONMENTAL LAW IN INDIAN COUNTRY

§ 1:1 Theory and values
§ 1:1.50 Agency, culture, land values, and public health [New]
§ 1:2 Aboriginal, treaty, and statutory property—Fishing rights in the Pacific Northwest
§ 1:3 Aboriginal, treaty, and statutory property—Environmental reserved rights
§ 1:4 Aboriginal, treaty, and statutory properties—Shellfish, whaling, sealing, and hunting rights
§ 1:5 Aboriginal, treaty, and statutory properties—Hawai'i
§ 1:6 Aboriginal, treaty, and statutory properties—Alaska—Land and self-governance
§ 1:7 Aboriginal, treaty, and statutory properties—Alaska—Subsistence
§ 1:8 Indian tribes in U.S. environmental law—The Indian hard-look doctrine and environmental justice
§ 1:9 Indian tribes in U.S. environmental law—Indian trust doctrine
§ 1:10 Indian tribes in U.S. environmental law—Freedom of Information Act (FOIA)
§ 1:11 Tribes in U.S. environmental law—Federal Advisory Committee Act (FACA)
§ 1:12 Indian tribes in U.S. environmental law—Relationship to EPA-tribal caucus—National environmental justice advisory council—National Tribal Environmental Council—State initiatives
§ 1:13 Tribes in United States environmental law—Conventional science (National Academy of Sciences)—Indian science
§ 1:14 National Environmental Policy Act (NEPA)—Summary, theory, and evolutionary history—Relevance to Indian tribes
§ 1:15 National Environmental Policy Act (NEPA)—The implementing institutions, tribes included
§ 1:16 National Environmental Policy Act (NEPA)—General procedures—Notice, hearings, findings, consultation, NEPA abroad
§ 1:17 National Environmental Policy Act (NEPA) in court—Review of agency decisionmaking—All process, no substance—Hard looks in Indian Country
§ 1:18 National Environmental Policy Act (NEPA)—Review of agency decisionmaking—Substance
§ 1:19 National Environmental Policy Act (NEPA)—Whether an EIS is required—Major actions and significant effects—Thresholds in Indian Country

§ 1:20 National Environmental Policy Act (NEPA)—Whether an EIS is required—Federal actions and inactions
§ 1:21 National Environmental Policy Act (NEPA)—Exceptions
§ 1:22 National Environmental Policy Act (NEPA)—Who writes the statement—Statement-writing in Indian Country
§ 1:23 National Environmental Policy Act (NEPA)—When—Statement timing—Supplemental EISs—Programmatic EISs—Examples from Indian Country
§ 1:24 National Environmental Policy Act (NEPA)—What is included in the analysis—Direct effects and socioeconomic effects—Indirect and cumulative effects—Segmentation—Examples from Indian Country
§ 1:25 National Environmental Policy Act (NEPA)—Alternatives, uncertainty (the worst case), mitigation, experience in Indian Country
§ 1:26 National Environmental Policy Act (NEPA)—Public participation, litigation, and remedies
§ 1:27 NEPA complements—Endangered Species Act
§ 1:28 NEPA complements—Wilderness Act
§ 1:29 Tribal mitigation and carbon market dynamics [New]
§ 1:30 Sustainable development mechanism [New]
§ 1:31 Tribal energy transition, climate dynamics, and evolving best practices [New]
§ 1:32 Path forward for climate, energy and water challenges [New]
§ 1:33 Tribal Resources Rights Dynamics [New]
§ 1:34 Deb Haaland installed as Department of the Interior Secretary: Timeline of Change and Challenges [New]
§ 1:35 Non-State Actor Access and Influence in International Legal and Policy Negotiations [New]

CHAPTER 1.50. TRIBAL-FEDERAL ENVIRONMENTAL INDIAN LAW: EVOLVING BEST PRACTICES—TIMELINE 2022-2023 [New]

§ 1.50:1 Introduction
§ 1.50:1.05 Nation-to-Nation relationships: Indigenous governance, Tribal culture, land, and values [New]
§ 1.50:1.10 National Environmental Policy Act (NEPA) Amendment Dynamics [New]
§ 1.50:1.15 Native American Heritage Month and Sustained Tribal Support [New]
§ 1.50:1.20 Fish Tribal Dynamics [New]
§ 1.50:1.25 Water Tribal Dynamics [New]
§ 1.50:1.30 Nuclear Tribal Dynamics [New]
§ 1.50:1.35 Metal Mining and Renewable Dynamics [New]
§ 1.50:1.40 Polar Natural Areas, Tribal Lives, and Livelihoods [New]
§ 1.50:1.45 Waste Tribal Dynamics [New]
§ 1.50:1.47 Energy Tribal Dynamics [New]
§ 1.50:1.50 Water rights, the Winters Doctrine, and weather dynamics [New]
§ 1.50:2 Co-managing Bears Ears

§ 1.50:3 Spirit Mountain
§ 1.50:4 Supreme Court considers if the U.S. has a duty to protect the Navajo Nation's access to the Colorado River
§ 1.50:5 Arizona v. Navajo Nation Supreme Court water litigation
§ 1.50:6 Rights of nature evolution of Colorado River Compact Coordination
§ 1.50:7 Rights of nature
§ 1.50:8 White House elevates Indigenous expertise to inform policy
§ 1.50:9 Indigenous Seed Keepers Network—Sustaining seed keeping
§ 1.50:10 Toxic salmon
§ 1.50:11 Salmon, dietary pollutants, and diabetes
§ 1.50:12 Washington state has banned fish farming with net pens in state waters
§ 1.50:13 Klamath salmon are coming home
§ 1.50:14 Prof. John Leshy's Our Common Ground, a political history of public lands
§ 1.50:15 Rule of law
§ 1.50:16 "Anti-canon of Indian law"—Justice Neil M. Gorsuch on Oklahoma v. Castro-Huerta
§ 1.50:17 Castro-Huerta Supreme Court ruling goes against legal precedent and the basic principles of federal Indian law
§ 1.50:18 "Forgiveness Resilience" as understood by Timothy Keller
§ 1.50:19 Havasupai Tribe opposes uranium mining activity near Grand Canyon
§ 1.50:20 Tribal health v. nuclear waste storage
§ 1.50:21 Public health physician and SUNY-Albany Prof. David Carpenter can resume teaching
§ 1.50:22 Tribal Water Codes
§ 1.50:23 Consultation with Virginia tribes regarding development
§ 1.50:24 Tribal Climate Context from the Environmental Law Institute
§ 1.50:25 Electric vehicle charging network for tribes
§ 1.50:26 Tribal lithium mining dynamic
§ 1.50:27 Sexual violence against tribal women exacerbated by fossil fuel extraction
§ 1.50:28 Tribal congressional delegate treaty obligation
§ 1.50:29 Mary Peltola—First Alaska Native elected to Congress
§ 1.50:30 Arctic Governance in a Changing World
§ 1.50:31 Retaining food security
§ 1.50:32 Alaska land exchange dynamics
§ 1.50:33 Arctic trust
§ 1.50:34 Permafrost loss from climate change is the likely culprit for rusting of Alaska's rivers

CHAPTER 2. TRIBAL, STATE, AND FEDERAL COOPERATION TO ACHIEVE GOOD GOVERNANCE

§ 2:1 Introduction
§ 2:2 Criminal jurisdictional uncertainty and native sovereignty

§ 2:3 Criminal jurisdictional uncertainty and native sovereignty—Federal criminal jurisdiction
§ 2:4 Criminal jurisdictional uncertainty and native sovereignty—State criminal jurisdiction
§ 2:5 Criminal jurisdictional uncertainty and native sovereignty—Tribal and federal and tribal, state and federal concurrent criminal jurisdiction
§ 2:6 Criminal jurisdictional uncertainty and native sovereignty—Gaps in criminal jurisdiction and homeland security
§ 2:7 Civil jurisdiction over non-Indians and water rights
§ 2:8 Civil jurisdiction over non-Indians and water rights—The Clean Water Act and tribal jurisdiction
§ 2:9 Civil jurisdiction over non-Indians and water rights—Wild Rice in Wisconsin
§ 2:10 Civil jurisdiction over non-Indians and water rights—Montana v. Environmental Protection Agency
§ 2:11 Civil jurisdiction over non-Indians and water rights—The right of the Pueblo to set high water quality standards
§ 2:12 Methamphetamine crisis among tribal communities
§ 2:13 Public oversight and devolution to the private sector
§ 2:14 International law and indigenous peoples
§ 2:14.50 International energy impacts on arctic [New]
§ 2:15 Public participation: the means are the ends
§ 2:16 Public participation: the means are the ends—Equitable allocation of tradable fishing permits to the Maori
§ 2:17 Public participation: the means are the ends—Impetus to change rules
§ 2:18 Public participation: the means are the ends—The Århus convention and the human right to a clean environment
§ 2:19 Conclusion

Table of Laws and Rules

Table of Cases

Index