

Significant New Material in the 2023 Edition

This edition contains new forms relating to wrongful discharge of a public servant employee, damages to an elderly person or disabled adult, and a complaint by a public utility for theft of services. It also contains modifications to a complaint arising from a motor vehicular accident to include allegations of negligence per se to take into account new or amended statutes. Commentary on recent decisions addressing notice requirements in claims against the State and pre-suit requirements in healthcare liability actions and certain immunities and limited immunity afforded certain persons and businesses.
