

Editor's Introduction to the 2026-2027 Edition

Lane's Goldstein Litigation Forms is designed to provide the trial lawyer with a compact, practice-oriented set of books to assist with the drafting of effective litigation-related forms, correspondence and documents. The portable soft-bound format of the book is tailor-made to accommodate the active litigator.

The three-volume set includes a wide range of forms useful at every stage of litigation from pre-filing intake through pleadings, discovery, motions and trial, and continuing through judgments, post-trial motions and appeals, as well as related topics such as arbitration, settlements, and releases. Every effort is made to maximize the utility of the forms, which may be modified to fit the facts and circumstances of a particular case, or to conform to evolving federal and state rules of practice and procedure.

New to the 2026 edition are forms covering a wide range of issues and applications across all three volumes, including the following:

- 8:22. Complaint for injury by goose—Premises liability and negligence
- 8:28. Complaint for injury by ferret
- 8:37. Complaint for rat bite fever—Sale of rat marketed as pet
- 8:38. Complaint for rat bite fever—Sale of rat marketed as snake food
- 8:77. Airplane boarding facility—Negligence
- 8:80. Cruise ship operation
- 8:81. Ferry operation and pier maintenance
- 28:42. Motion to compel production of documents and answers to interrogatories
- 31:9. Motion for protective order—Additional discovery pertaining to prior suicide attempts by insured burdensome and oppressive
- 31:10. Motion for protective order—To preclude discovery designed to find and locate potential clients

LANE'S GOLDSTEIN LITIGATION FORMS

- 31:12. Motion for protective order—Subpoenaed records protected by attorney client and work product privilege
- 31:13. Motion for protective order—To prevent disclosure of private, proprietary, personal and confidential matter
- 32:28. Opposition to answer to motion to compel or for sanctions
- 32:29. Opposition to motion seeking reconsideration of order granting request for sanctions
- 50:11. Motion to strike untimely endorsement of expert witness
- 50:13. Motion to compel disclosure of witnesses
- 50:14. Motion to strike supplemental expert and fact witnesses

Whether you are a new or ongoing user of this set we hope you will find Lane's Goldstein Litigation Forms to be a valuable resource in your practice.